

HANNAH HEISHMAN

Associate

Hannah advises and represents clients in the defense of medical malpractice actions as an associate attorney at Hancock Daniel. With a paralegal background in medical malpractice and civil litigation, Hannah has experience with the complexities of medical malpractice suits. Hannah understands that being named in a lawsuit brings a great amount of stress and strives to help her clients feel heard and adequately represented.

Hannah received her Bachelor of Science in Chemistry from Radford University with a concentration in Forensics. She received her Master of Science in Criminal Justice from Radford University. She earned her Juris Doctor degree from Mitchell Hamline School of Law, and while earning her degree, continued to work full-time as a paralegal for Hancock Daniel. After graduating from Mitchell Hamline, she joined Hancock Daniel as an associate practicing in medical malpractice defense.

---

Associations and Professional Memberships

Virginia Association of Defense Attorneys

Practice Areas

Medical Malpractice Defense

Licensure

Virginia

Academic Credentials

Radford University, B.S.

Radford University, M.S.

Mitchell Hamline School of Law, J.D.