

RYAN MARTIN

Associate

Ryan provides up-to-date guidance on Licensure, Certification, Medicare/Medicaid reimbursement, and Certificate of Need. Ryan concentrates on advising behavioral health and long-term care providers in navigating the complex system of laws and regulations to ensure compliance ahead of project implementation. "My aim is to provide clients with the practical information that can be used to assist with transaction strategies and to avoid project delays."

As the son of a healthcare provider, he understands the complex nature of the healthcare industry. "The sheer volume of regulations healthcare organizations must comply with can be staggering. What is even more daunting, is how quickly they can change," Ryan says. "My practice provides guidance to a wide range of clients including hospitals, health systems, physician practices, and private equity." Additionally, he counsels on reimbursement issues from government payors like Medicare and Medicaid, as well as commercial payors. Ryan routinely assists regulatory filings in mergers, acquisitions, divestitures, and other transactions.

Prior to joining Hancock Daniel as a full-time associate, Ryan was a law clerk with the firm for two years while he was attending law school.
