

MELISSA P. READING

Of Counsel

Melissa Phillips Reading represents companies and individuals in civil tort litigation, primarily medical malpractice defense. She defends healthcare providers from pre-suit investigation through appeal, as well as assisting them with other interactions with the civil legal system such as navigating depositions, responding to subpoenas and requests for records, and government and medical board investigations.

Melissa has handled cases involving a variety of specialties and settings, including ophthalmology, anesthesiology, long term care, obstetrics, pulmonology, critical care medicine, plastic surgery, cosmetic surgery, emergency medicine, hospital medicine, nursing and advanced practice nursing, and medical assisting. In addition to motions practice, discovery and trial at the trial court level, Melissa handles appeals for her clients, including development of interlocutory and final appeals. Additionally, Melissa represents healthcare professionals in regulatory board complaints and investigations.

Prior to joining Hancock, Daniel, & Johnson, PC, and returning to her hometown, Melissa practiced healthcare liability defense for twelve years in Atlanta, Georgia. Ms. Reading has been recognized as a "Rising Star" (in healthcare and civil litigation defense) in "Georgia Super Lawyers" every year since 2012. She began her legal career serving as a law clerk to the Honorable G. Ernest Tidwell, United States District Court, Northern District of Georgia, and practicing at a nationally recognized, Atlanta-based law firm.
